Cockey Lamps

The distinctive Art Trail logo is inspired by the Art Nouveau lamps seen around Frome. Their ornate leaf pattern is a Cockey family design. Originally gas lit, they are listed for their architectural importance. The ornate lamps are unique to Frome's rich and varied industrial history. Lewis Cockey, a clock maker, came to Frome in 1685 and began casting church bells. At least 62 local bells were cast by him. By the early 19th Century the family began casting for the gas industry.

Thanks to Cockey, Frome has gas street lighting as early as 1831.
